RALEIGH, N. C., December 7.—The midwinter festival of the Choral Society of Raleigh given Thursday evening in the auditorium of the Baptist University for Women, was the event of most general interest in social circles here the past week. Among the distinguished vocalists of the country, the society numbers in its membership more than 150 of the best musicians of the city. The first soloist in the company of Mr. Wm. D. Brown, achieved a marked degree of success in past seasons in their public recitals. This recital early elicited all previous ones in the number of audience and the patriotic ardor accorded by the people of Raleigh. The chorus work of the society was superb. Among the numbers which the Choral Society rendered in mass were "Ode to France," "Freedom's Song," "Song of the Vikings," "Under the Blooming Beeches," "My Lady Chie" and "The Miller's Wiving."

On Friday night there was a very largely attended gathering in the auditorium of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, complimentary to the Agricultural and Mechanical football team in celebration of the defeat of the University of Virginia Thanksgiving Day.
